FLOOD REFUGEES SUFFER IN COLD WAVE

MORE LEVEE BREAKS CAUSE DISTRESS ON MISSISSIPPI RIVER

Two Thousand Are Exposed To Elements Through South

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 31.—A cold wave today followed floods in eastern Arkansas and southeastern Missouri and caused much suffering from exposure among 2,000 refugees as new breaks in levees throughout the section were reported.

The most serious new break was reported at Des Arc, Ark., last night when the White River overflowed its banks and washed away twenty-two miles of levee from that place to Cotton Plant, driving 500 families from their homes and inundating 20,000 acres of land.

Several small villages in Arkansas were reported under a few feet of water today. Thousands of acres of farm lands were flooded and many hogs and cattle have perished.

The temperature was at freezing this morning in the flooded district, adding to the suffering of the refugees who are housed in tents forwarded here from the national guard unit at Little Rock.

Sickness from exposure is likely to follow, it was feared and preparations were made by state health authorities to dispatch physicians and nurses to the scene.

AIMEE WILL ARRIVE MONDAY TO LAUNCH DAYTON MEETINGS

Free Services At Memorial Hall Except For Collections

DAYTON, O., Jan. 31.—Aimee Semple McPherson, Los Angeles evangelist, and central figure in the sensational McPherson "kidnapping case," was scheduled to arrive here at 7:30 o'clock tonight for a three day evangelistic meeting in Dayton.

Admission to the meetings here will be free, and a free will offering will be taken for the evangelist, which it is said, will mark a departure from the custom previously followed on her lecture tour of the nation, as a flat admission fee has been charged in other cities.

"Faith healing," which features Mrs. McPherson's meeting on the Pacific coast, will have no part in the public meetings here, under an agreement between those promoting her appearance here and the directors of Memorial Hall, who agreed to permit use of the hall only on condition there should be no "healing" services.

Tremendous crowds are expected to attend the McPherson meetings here, and plans have been made to handle capacity audiences at the Memorial Hall sessions. The first meeting will be held Tuesday night.

PRETTY TYPIST IS QUICK ON TRIGGER

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 31.—"I'd been expecting this visit," said Miss Ruth Orendorff, 25, pretty typist, to police today as she reported that she had wounded a negro who attempted to enter her room late last night.

"About a month ago a negro tried to enter my room on the pretext of bringing a special delivery letter," she said, "I drove him away with a huge tin of paper shears."

"Then I bought a revolver."

"When he came back last night on the same pretext, and started to walk in, I just started pulling the trigger."

"I know I hit him because he shouted 'I've been shot' as he started running away," she concluded.

GREEDY COLOSSUS IS U. S. SAYS REDS

MOSCOW, Jan. 31.—The United States is a "criminal, cynical, greedy colossus and the mightiest of all imperialists," declares a statement issued by the executive committee of the Communist International calling upon South and Central America to rise and protest against "the exploitation and plunder" by the United States.

The International promises its support to the people of Nicaragua against "their American oppressors."

"Peaches" Diary Barred From Case By Judge; Letters Also Excluded

COURT HOUSE, White Plains, N. Y., Jan. 31.—"Peaches" Browning's diary of her flapper days before she met her elderly millionaire husband, Edward W. "Daddy" Browning, will not be admitted as evidence, Justice Albert Seeger ruled at the resumption of the Browning separation trial today.

Browning's chief attorney, Judge John B. Mack, told Judge Seeger he had a brief he wished to submit in which he had outlined his reasons for asking that the diary be allowed as evidence.

"I object," said Henry Epstein, "Peaches" attorney, "on the ground that I have not seen this brief and, furthermore, we are opposed to the admission of this diary."

Judge Seeger said: "Gentlemen, I will save you argument about this matter—this diary is excluded."

The excluded diary was said to contain a recital of the parties and dances "Peaches" attended before she knew "Daddy" and comments in intimate manner on some of her "boy friends" who were smitten with her charm when she was fifteen.

"Peaches" sat pensively at her counsel's table. On her finger was her wedding ring. At her side sat her mother, Mrs. Carolyn Heenan. "Daddy" sat ten feet away, the busiest person in the court room. He took sheets of paper from a suit case and passed them to his lawyers, meanwhile offering them a barrage of advice.

Every seat in the court room was taken and scores were standing in the aisles. Most of the throng consisted of women and girls. Judge Seeger also excluded as evidence letters "Peaches" wrote before her marriage. Browning's attorney had told the court the letters would show "the kind of a girl 'Peaches' was before she was married to 'Daddy.'"

OHIO FARMERS MUST ORGANIZE FOR SELF PROTECTION, SAID

Jardine Will Speak At Tuesday Session Of Farm Week

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 31.—With speakers urging Ohio farmers to unite for economic self protection, the fifteenth annual farmers' week got under way at Ohio State University here today with 350 events on the five day program. The attendance was estimated at 5,000, including farmers, housewives and youths.

Following the morning addresses of L. B. Palmer, pres. of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, Murray D. Lincoln, secretary, and the afternoon address of Dr. C. C. Taylor, dean of the graduate school, North Carolina State College, interest centered about the visit and address of W. M. Jardine, secretary of agriculture who is to speak Tuesday morning.

Twenty-three speeches including Secretary Jardine's are to be broadcast over WEAO, for the benefit of shut-ins and rural residents unable to attend "the farmers' week at college."

The meeting opened this morning when Dean Alfred Vivian of the college of agriculture welcomed the delegates and visitors to the campus of Ohio State University. He was followed by President George Rightmire of the University, and President Palmer of the Ohio Farm Federation.

"The individual farmer is helpless," declared Palmer in his address. "The farmer who refuses to pool his energies with those of his neighbors is standing in the way of economic and social progress. Leadership in solving agricultural problems must come from the farm. Not even a beneficent government agency can do this for us."

"Relief necessary to farmers to make their work more profitable depends largely on a better system of marketing and credit facilities. The unwillingness of farmers to patronize their own co-operative ventures has proved detrimental both to producer and consumer."

In discussing Muscle Shoals, Palmer urged that congress carry out its original intention to manufacture fertilizer in time of peace, and nitrates in time of war.

BOULDER WRECKS CONCRETE HIGHWAY

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Jan. 31.—A 200-ton boulder, which fell from a hillside here early today, ruined a large section of new concrete highway and swept the double track rails of the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley traction company's lines, off the right of way.

Debris strewn several hundred yards by the slide, which did damage estimated at $25,000.

The landslide is located about three miles from Pennsylvania hill, which has caused fears for several days that it will slip, carrying car lines and two potteries into the Ohio River.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 31.—One man was killed, and a policeman and a woman were wounded during a gun battle in a saloon here early today.

It is believed that the dead man is Burton White, 36, of Chester, Pa. His body was so badly torn by the gun fire that identification was difficult.

UNITED STATES WILL CONTINUE WAITING POLICY TOWARD CHINA

British Proposals Not Different From Kellogg's, It Is Said—Hope For Early Settlement Of Trouble

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—In view of the continued gravity of the Chinese situation, this government, it was said today, will remain steadfast in its "watchful waiting" policy toward China.

The British proposals handed the Canton and Peking foreign ministers last week, officials here asserted, are in no way radically different from those already made by Secretary Kellogg. It was emphasized that the new London policy goes only one step further than that of the United States in that the British offer to relinquish partial control of their concessions.

But as America has no concessions in China, the British offer, it was said, is of little practical value. Some weight is also attached to the fact that the British have directly approached both Canton and Peking, while this government addressed its policy to the Chinese nation as a whole. It is believed in some quarters here that the United States will follow suit by finding some more direct avenue of approach, although this course has been frowned upon by Secretary Kellogg.

That an early settlement of the Chinese question can be reached is not now believed probable here. It is believed that Eugene Chen, Wellington Koo and Chang Tso-

DROPPING OF SPIES WILL HANDICAP DRY ENFORCEMENT WORK

Prohibition Faces Crisis Result Of Suspend-Work

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Prohibition enforcement virtually faced a crisis today with congress on record as rejecting appropriations for "under-cover" dry agents and the treasury department declaring them necessary to effectively enforce the Volstead law.

While dry leaders rallied to the government's use of "under-cover" agents, the wets launched a vigorous attack on the department's plea for a "spy army." The next move, however, was up to the drys as the funds for under-cover work were stricken out of the treasury appropriation bill. Unless special legislation is enacted before adjournment—an almost impossible feat—dry leaders frankly admitted that prohibition enforcement will be seriously handicapped in the coming year.

"If congress denies funds for under-cover prohibition work," said Wayne B. Wheeler, generalissimo of the Anti-Saloon League, "it will make it harder to enforce the law. A refusal would show that there are men in congress who would weak any kind of enforcement simply because of their prejudice to prohibition."

The wets indicated nevertheless that they will fight any appropriation for a dry "spy army."

"In the first place," said Senator James A. Reed (D) of Missouri, wet leader, "this appeal is a confession that prohibition enforcement is a failure. Any law which cannot be enforced without the employment of an army of spies, snoopers and sneaks, would better be repealed. The spy system is, abhorrent to our entire plan of government and it would be a good deal better to have the level of living standards maintained. He believes that the progress of scientific and industrial achievement will so increase productivity that living standards not only will be maintained but greatly improved with the growth of the nation."

Public health reports show that the average span of life is increasing partially from greater progress in medical science and sanitation, and partially from elimination of degrading manual labor possible through labor saving devices.

Estimated population of Ohio and the gain since 1920 was given as follows: Ohio, Population July 1, 1927, 6,710,000, gain, 950,606.

WOMAN SWIMMER IS CLAIMED BY DEATH

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—Sybil Bauer, famous woman swimmer, died early today at Michael Reese hospital following a long illness.

Miss Bauer had been confined to the hospital for several months from complications that developed after an operation for intestinal disorder.

At the bedside when death came were Miss Bauer's parents, a brother and her fiancé, Edward Sullivan, New York newspaper man.

The death of the noted star came as a distinct surprise as it was announced only a few days ago that she was recovering rapidly. Miss Bauer was holder of many national and international swimming records. She was noted especially for her back stroke records. She was the daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. Carl Bauer, of Chicago. Until the break in her health Miss Bauer was a student at Northwestern University.

DETROIT CRIME WAVE RESULTS IN FIVE KILLINGS; POLICEMAN AMONG VICTIMS

DETROIT, Jan. 31.—Agitation for and against the return of capital punishment continued to rage today as a check of the week-end crime wave showed five killings.

Failure to have their weapons in hand when they entered a drug store in response to a holdup call, was blamed for the death of Patrolman Stacey Mizner and the possible fatal wounding of his partner, Patrolman Edward Geering, 33. They were shot down without warning.

In the pistol battle which followed, police reserves killed Edward Martindale 26, and Frank O'Neil, 39, both of Chicago.

POPULATION SHOWS HUGE INCREASES IN CENSUS ESTIMATES

Ohio Gained Nearly Million Since 1920 Figures Show

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—If the United States keeps up its present rate of growth, the country will have a population of well over 226,500,000 in the year 2,000.

This estimate was based upon the announcement today by the Bureau of the Census, that by July 1, the population will have passed 118,628,000, a gain of 1,492,000 in a year and 12,918,000 since 1920.

The Census Bureau's estimate gave the population of each state except those which had showed a decrease between 1910 and 1920, or from 1920 to 1925.

Pennsylvania gained 1,109,593 in population between 1920 and 1927. New York increased 1,037,773 in the same period and California 1,006,139. New York led in population with 11,428,000, followed by Pennsylvania with 9,730,000.

In order to support the vast future population, Secretary of Commerce Hoover believes that great progress must be made in the better utilization of raw materials, elimination of industrial waste, development of water and power resources, in science and other fields, that living standards may be maintained. He believes that the progress of scientific and industrial achievement will so increase productivity that living standards not only will be maintained but greatly improved with the growth of the nation.

Public health reports show that the average span of life is increasing partially from greater progress in medical science and sanitation, and partially from elimination of degrading manual labor possible through labor saving devices.

FORMER BANKER IS CAUGHT IN DAYTON AFTER DEFAULTING

Wife Shows Faith In Honesty Of Mercer Countian

DAYTON, O., Jan. 31.—Mrs. Henry J. Reichert, wife of the former cashier of the Farmer's Bank, or Burkettsville, Mercer County, arrested here late Saturday night on a grand jury indictment, believes in her husband's honesty and today blamed an unnamed real estate dealer in Mercer County for the crash of the bank.

According to Mrs. Reichert, her husband cashed a number of checks for the real estate man, who, she declared, had no money in the bank. He was a close friend of Reichert's, she said, and promised the latter to make good the amounts. A bank examiner, however, discovered the shortage, and the bank was closed. The shortage is said to have totaled from $40,000 to $50,000.

Reichert, according to his wife, turned over $15,000 of property to the bank director, and came to Dayton and engaged in the insurance business, in an effort to earn sufficient money to repay the shortage. His arrest Saturday night followed. Mrs. Reichert declared that she and her children are left without the necessities of life, as a result of the holding of her husband.

Another arrest in connection with the failure of the bank is said to be imminent.

POLICE SIGH WITH RELIEF AS "DYING TRUSTY" IS FINALLY GONE FROM CITY

Police breathed a sigh of relief Monday for to the best of their knowledge John B. Walsh, 28, was gone.

Walsh, war veteran and inmate of the National Military Home at Dayton, came to the city Friday to get his compensation certificate cashed. He had imbibed too freely of bay rum.

Patrolman Fred Jones arrested him and Chief M. E. Graham ordered him to leave the city, even going so far as to have him placed on a street car, Dayton bound.

But Walsh left the car at the foot of W. Main St. and the following morning Jones discovered him trying to pawn an overcoat.

The officer conducted him to Police Headquarters where he was placed in a cell. Saturday night he asked Patrolman Ed Craig, to buy him a supply of the small tablets from a drug store. The tablets have a stimulating effect and the druggist assured the officer they were not harmful.

Walsh gulped down all six tablets in one swallow and soon complained of violent pains in his stomach. Dr. F. M. Chambliss was summoned and administered first aid, using a stomach pump. Still his condition did not improve and police feared he would die.

Shortly afterward Patrolman Fred Jones left the office for a time leaving Charles Mangan temporarily in charge. Walsh recuperated immediately and hearing sounds in the cell room, Mangan stuck his head through the door.

Walsh had obtained a broom and was cleaning up the corridor and cell, sweeping up the dirt. "I'm a trusty," Walsh explained. "Dying a few minutes ago and now a trusty," Mangan muttered.

Walsh was better Sunday after spending the night in a cell and again was placed on a street car for Dayton. Once more he stepped off at the foot of Main St. and was later taken into custody by police.

This time Peter Shagin, motorcycle policeman, placed him on the street car and escorted the traction to the city limits on his motorcycle to assure himself Walsh was gone for good.

WRIGLEY SAYS BOY SHOULD MAKE MONEY

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—William Wrigley Jr., fresh from Catalina, declared today that George Young, the youthful Toronto swimmer who conquered the choppy Catalina channel, should amass a fortune of "at least $100,000," as a result of his achievement.

Young's first money was the $25,000 offered by Mr. Wrigley for the first man to conquer the channel. Wrigley said it cost $100,000 to stage the marathon.

"Young is getting $1,000 a day for public appearance," said the chewing gum magnate. "But swimming isn't the only thing that boy knows how to do. He knows how to hold onto money. He's putting it in trust for his mother."

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

FLUSH YOUR KIDNEYS OCCASIONALLY BY DRINKING QUARTS OF GOOD WATER.

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Too much rich food creates acids which clog the kidney pores so that they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood. Then you get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage, or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin to drink soft water in quantities; also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone can take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby often preventing serious kidney complications.

BIBLE THOUGHT

A GOOD NAME THE BEST ASSET:—A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches, and loving favour rather than silver and gold, Proverbs 22 : 1.

WORDS AND PICTURES

Notice the care with which the really great newspapers of the United States select the material which is to go into their columns, both as to reading matter and illustrated features.

In the main newspapers are edited with a view to making their contents acceptable in any home in which they may go and safe for the perusal of both children and adults.

That is the goal toward which publishers of reputable newspapers constantly strive.

In circulation nowadays are a number of publications containing material of questionable character but these are produced merely to meet a limited demand from those who revel in the filth in which they specialize. Under the guise of so called "features" much material along such general lines and sometimes going to the extent of containing concealed smut, are offered for newspaper publication. It should go without saying that in the office of the newspaper whose columns are guarded against the possible indecencies of printed word or pictured incident such offerings go immediately into a spacious wastebasket provided for that purpose, while the worthy features presented from time to time are given consideration and the publication rights purchased if space for their use is available.

A dynamite bomb in the hands of a maniac is a harmless thing in its destructive possibilities as compared with a newspaper whose columns are not guarded against the entry of that which is depraving rather than elevating, that which is harmful rather than helpful, that which tears down rather than builds up; that which shatters reputations under the shibboleth of "printing all the news."

A newspaper property is more than mere presses and linotypes and typewriters and desks assembled as equipment by the use of which an owner can secure a profit for himself—it is the voice of a community, heard not alone within its own borders but extending out and out until in many instances it reaches into the far places of the world. And, realizing the powerful influence of that voice, its utterances must not for a moment be left unguarded.

MAKES 'EM WANT TO FIGHT

Here is a new theory: Why may not many of the political feuds that for centuries have embittered the lives of millions of men and women, in France, Germany, Italy, have been caused by poor and insufficient food?

The edge of this conclusion was touched the other day, when Mussolini ordered an inquiry into the excessive use of spaghetti by his people. To eat this soggy bread three times a day, year in and year out, is but to compound all sorts of ill-nature, ending in international complications such as the recent world war.

But the Italians are not alone in regard to soggy foods.

Each European nation has its peculiar stews, broths, mixtures of bones and grease, veritable chop-sueys of taste, smell and appearance that makes the familiar Chinese "muligan" look like a dish for the gods, in comparison with the various types of "hunters' stews," common in Europe, from Poland to Spain.

And since this is, in America particularly, the age of inquiry into the poisonous effects of foods, it would seem that Mussolini's uneasiness about too much spaghetti for his people, is well founded, may lead to better days, healthier living, do away with that everlasting brawling which has Italian history in the past.

The continental soup-pot is forever simmering on the stove, and into this pot the prudent housewife throws from time to time bits of fat, scraps of woody-fibered vegetables, as a sort of catch-all for the family. In due order, a daily diet of smoked herring, sappy spaghetti, gritty bread suitable only for those doing penance, is added to sour milk or sour wine. Such a bill of fare is unknown even among the so called poor of America.

Less attention to "politics," more to what Europe "eats," would go far to make for a brighter, happier world.

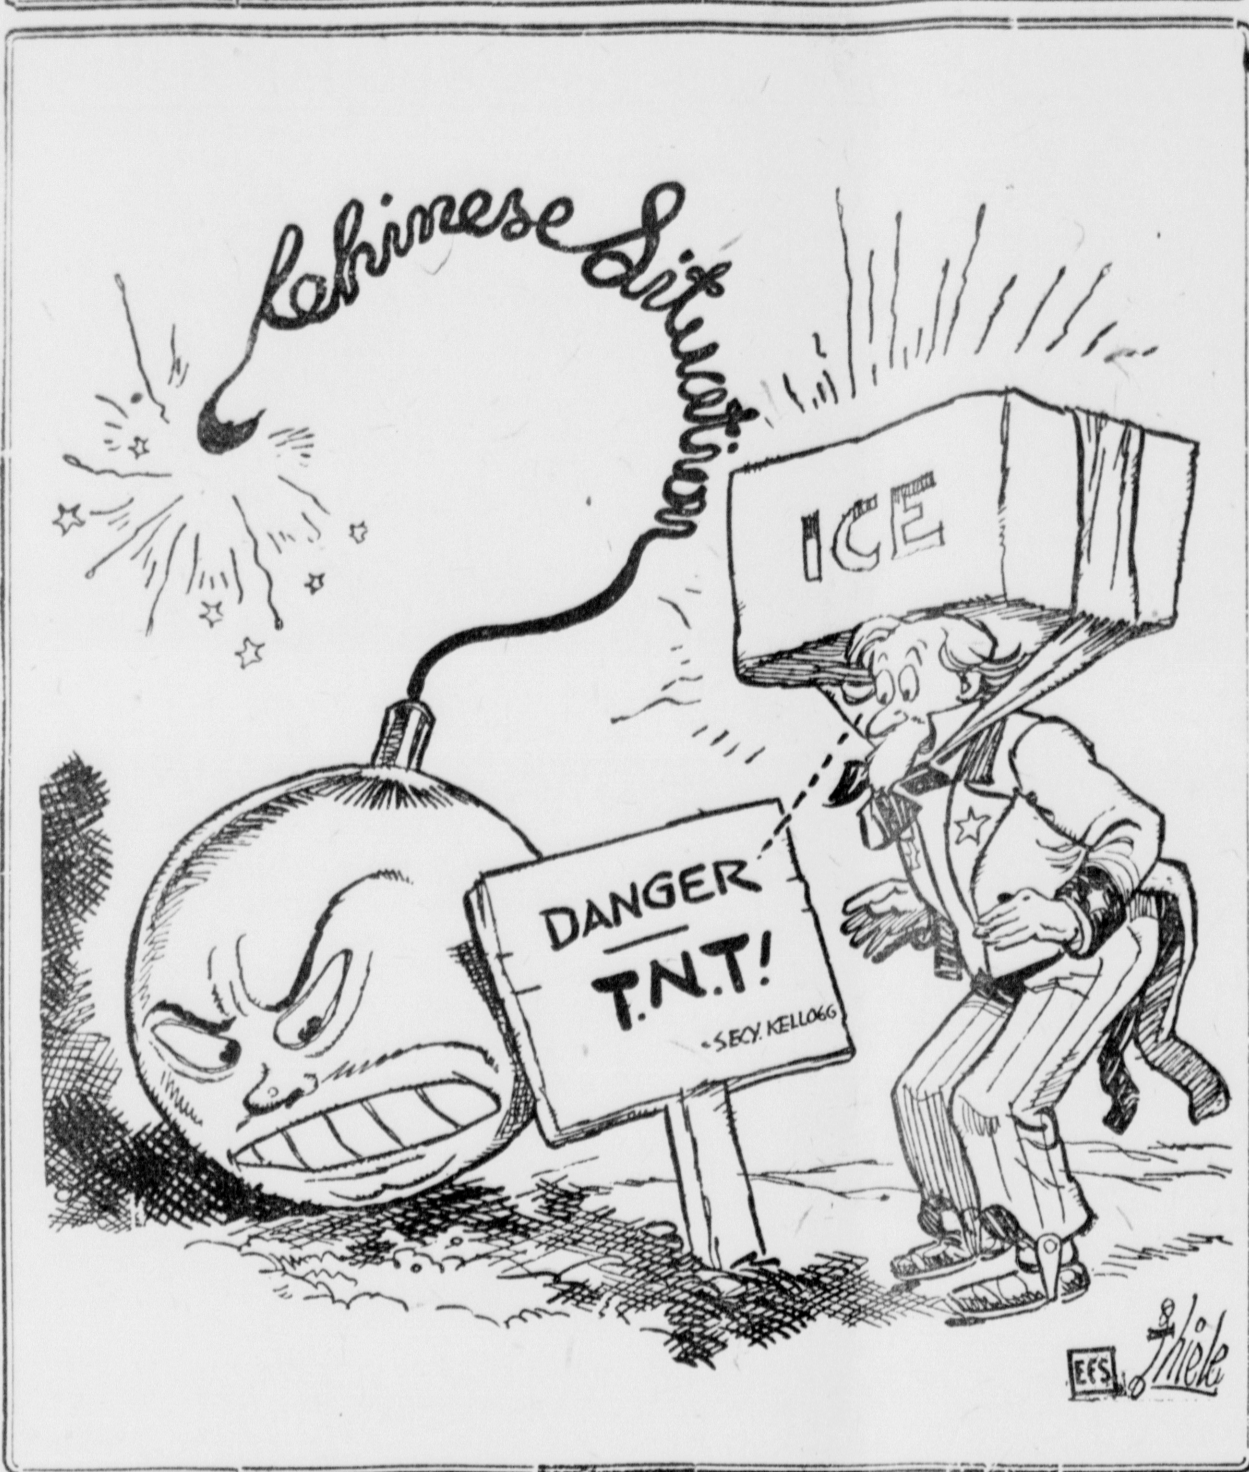

Mussolini's suspicions about over-dieting on sappy spaghetti is the greatest forward step made in continental Europe in one hundred years.

Time to Keep Cool

Little Old New York

By JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

Exclusive Dispatch, Copyright 1927

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—More than $500,000,000 is lost annually in this country through purchase of fraudulent securities. Most of this "guilt" edge stock emanates from New York where it's perfectly all right to break the law with a pen but not a pistol.

The wise crooks in the Town of Quiver Percentages realize that the average man is on the lookout to get something for nothing, and he capitalizes on this cupidity.

Fully half the $500,000,000 lost annually in the brokerage come-on game is taken from men and women whose hearts aren't one bit purer than the dealers in Golden Fleece.

A boob goes up against a wire-tapping game. The crooks tell him that by intercepting messages across the wires they can give him sure-thing advice. If the boob were an honest boob he'd scorn to take part in such a deal, knowing that he was to profit by questionable methods. But he readily falls in with the plan and when he is finally left holding the bag he rushes to the police and squawks. I've never had any sympathy with the victims of "gold brick" and allied swindles. It's clearly a case of "cheating cheaters"—a game where the best man is entitled to all he can get.

A New York dramatic critic remarked the other day in the course of a review, that "nothing could astonish him any more."

Which is tantamount to admitting that his value as a critic is nil. Nothing is ever stale, worn or humdrum to the legitimate commentator. His true worth lies in the fact that he can bring to thousands rehearsal a point of view as fresh as if he were witnessing it for the first time.

When they pass the age of astonishment they're through.

There's Alan Dale for example. He's been rehearsing plays for more than thirty years and he gets as excited over a snappy little musical comedy today as he did back in the days of Florodora. He took in a show the other night and next day wrote as follows:

"I'll admit that I laughed till the tears ran down my honest, review-

some checks as I listened to Lulu McConnell in that Fifth Avenue shop scene selling combinations to an acidulated feminine. And when the acidulated one complained of the color, the retort that no one would ever see it but herself—the whole house giggled.

The big point there is that Brother Dale, who has "covered" thousands of musical shows, "laughed till the tears ran down his honest, review-some cheeks," while the audience merely giggled.

It is only the dilettante who curls up and dies of ennui.

Jack Sheridan, the oyster man at the Waldorf, has been wrecking from 340 to 360 bivalves an hour, eight hours a day, six days a week, eight and a half months a year for 37 years, and figuring days off, holidays and time out to wash his hands, estimates that Monday morning of last week he opened

In all the thirty-seven years holding the light up to 25,000,000 oysters he says he never found a single pearl of any value. Just a little incomplete formation in the shell, but nothing worth while. Once in his youth he and his assistants found four pearls about the size of the small end of a collar button. A jeweler told him the pearls were worth nothing.

"We have all found pearls about the size of the small end of a collar button," remarked the newspaper man who was interviewing Oysterman Jack.

"Yes," he replied with a sigh, "life is just a jeweler."

There was more to the interview but it never got much above that level.

The Theatre

By MAURICE HENLE

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The theatrical publication "Variety" recently called attention to the fact that there is a vast oversupply of "extras" in Hollywood. There are 18,000 now in the western film capital and room for only an average of 710 daily.

That is true. Young men and girls have been advised for some time not to go to Hollywood to be movie "extras." But that won't make much difference. They'll continue to go just the same.

The same unfortunate situation does not exist in New York, happily. It is true that for each of the 18,000 movie-struck men and girls in Hollywood, there probably are five in this city. But there the parallels stop. Usually a girl who tries to get motion picture work here already is employed in another capacity. She might be playing in a Broadway show. Or perhaps she is a model for a cloak and suit house. Or even a cashier in a hotel.

The city is large enough, and its opportunities for employment wide enough, to absorb this huge army. But Hollywood has no Broadway, nor has it the means of employing this horde at high wages. Goodness knows how many of these people live.

Right now the subways running to Astoria, L. I., are crowded with the hopeful—and also the hopeless. Paramount has five pictures under way, taxing the capacity of the huge studio with its twin floors.

Men and women applicants are about evenly divided. The casting office resembles a madhouse. It looks like bargain day in a department store. This influx of hopefuls—and hopeless—is caused by the publicity given by the newspapers about the heavy production now under way.

About five out of every hundred who come to the casting director's window are successful during this rush period. Ninety-five are turned away. Old people, young people and middle aged ones—they all come just as they always will. The old wheeze about hope springing eternal in the human breast holds true still. Their daily rate depends on the type of work they do. Some get five dollars, some seven and a half, some ten and a few fifteen. One does an unusual canino, gets fifty dollars a day for her owner.

Most of the girls who apply are show-girls. The men are more difficult to classify. Most of them are not from the stage, it would seem.

And how much chance is there for these people to break through to a contract? That is easy and yet hard to answer. Possibly one in a hundred thousand comes through. That might be putting it too strong. I have no way of knowing the exact number who make good in proportion to the number of applicants. I do not include in this group who "break through" those who get employment as extras for a day or so. I mean those who show unusual ability or photographic quality that wins a contract for them and gets them in pictures regularly with their names on the billboards.

And yet it is not for one on the sidelines to tell people that the chance to succeed is all but impossible. People do make good and they will continue to do so. New names and new faces will continue to come to the movies. But it is true that very few get in and you can figure that out yourself.

KELLYGRAMS

by FRED C. KELLY

DO WE PREFER HIGHER PRICES?

I have just devoted a few minutes to laughing over the absurd readiness of us humans to pay a dollar or more for an article that wouldn't interest us at ten cents.

A friend of mine owns an apartment house and was unable to rent one suite because it was on the north side and everybody feared that it would lack sun light. He lowered the rent $10 a month, but still got no tenant. Then somebody advised him not to lower the rent but to raise it higher than any other suite in the building.

This he promptly did, explaining to people who came to look at it that, because there was no chance for glare from the sun, it was ideal for a studio and was worth more. Within a day or two, he rented it. Though the place was gloomy, those who looked at it thought: "It costs more; it must be worth more."

Several seasons ago, out in Oregon, the Chinook salmon, which is the pink salmon that most of us know best, were late arriving in the Columbia river, and the canners faced loss from a short working season. They might have put up another variety, known as dog salmon, but this kind is white and has never sold as well as pink salmon. It tastes about the same but people think of salmon as pink and therefore are suspicious if they open a can and find the meat white.

But one canner hit upon a clever way around the difficulty. He printed on each and every can of the white salmon: "This salmon is guaranteed not to turn pink in any climate." Also, he raised the price.

By thus suggesting that the white color was not a liability but an asset, he had no trouble selling his entire output.

Not long ago, a motion picture producer found that, in spite of great expense, a film he had just made was a third-rate piece of work. His impulse was to sell it to small theaters at a low price and try to break even. But on second thought he hired a big theater in New York and launched it as a super-picture at prices about the same as for a regular play. The picture then went over with a bang and made his company a fortune.

Every department store manager knows that when a weird style of garment doesn't sell readily it may often be moved by raising the price. For some weeks a friend has been telling me from time to time about an industrial stock selling at about $31 a share that he was going to buy for investment. Yet he procrastinated and didn't buy. A few days ago, the stock advanced in price to more than $40 a share and he promptly telephoned an order to buy it.

way of getting a living. It was at a meeting of motion picture experts and surgeons, W. H. Hays, head of the screen industry, made the announcement that the movies were about to be developed for their benefit in the most practical way.

Not only would it be possible in this way to demonstrate every step in a surgical operation, which could be used over and over again until the student was as familiar with every step as he would be supposed to be with the alphabet, but the development and progress of various diseases could be similarly charted and illuminated.

There is scarcely any limit to which this wonderful method of instruction may not be carried, and as Mr. Hays stated, it would enable one to see and study the action of the heart, the flowing of the blood, sleeping sickness, cancer and many other things with perfect accuracy.

That this method of instruction has the approval of such great surgeons as Dr. Charles H. Mayo, of Rochester, Minn., merely indicates the opinion which the leading minds in the profession maintain toward this subject. Dr. Mayo stated that operations performed by him and by all other surgeons might be filmed, and that he would willingly permit operations to be filmed for the benefit of students. This will obviate the necessity of travel to Europe or to make any other long journey for the purpose of acquiring general or special information on these important subjects, the student being provided with the knowledge which he seeks, at his very door.

Strict Reducing Diets

Today in concluding my series of talks on the importance of eating the right foods I am going to tell you of two reducing diets which are favorites of mine and which I would suggest your trying if you feel you are many pounds overweight and if you are really in earnest about getting your weight down to normal.

Earlier in the week I spoke of reducing diets, but they were mild and intended more for the woman who was slightly overweight or for the woman who was anxious to keep her weight normal. However, the ones I am going to tell you of today are for those of you who have been negligent about letting the extra pounds creep on and now realize that you are probably ten, fifteen or twenty pounds heavier than you should be.

The following diets can be practiced as long as you feel you still retain any part of the superfluous flesh you are determined to eliminate. However, if you find yourself tiring of the sameness which they entail you can follow them for a week and then alternate with the menus I previously suggested.

The first one I am going to tell you about today is the tomato and egg diet. The first day eat a 21-minute boiled egg and a raw tomato for breakfast. For lunch and dinner the same, using a little salt and pepper if you wish. On alternate days you can eat your meal, but eliminate white breads, potato, more than one cube of butter and sugar. Continue this until you have accomplished your purpose.

The following is a scientific diet which was recommended to me by a doctor of well-known reputation. It has more variety than the usual diet. Likewise it has a charm that I am sure will appeal to all of you, which is that you will not feel hungry while you are on it.

Breakfast for the first five weeks: One raw tomato, one soft-boiled egg, one cup of broth, one cup of corn flakes.

Luncheon for the first week: One cup of broth, one soft-boiled egg, two fresh vegetables (uncooked).

Dinner first week: One cup of broth, one soft-boiled egg, one cup of black coffee, two green vegetables (uncooked).

Second week: Luncheon and dinner same as first week, except that you can eat meat and one vegetable.

Third Week: Luncheon and dinner same as second week, but add graham bread once a day instead of meat.

Fourth Week: Luncheon and dinner same as third week, only use cooked vegetables except corn or potatoes.

Fifth week: Same as third and fourth week only you may have a small pastry.

Use no milk, cream, butter or sugar at any time while on this diet.

On a diet of this sort, you can reduce as much as a pound a day according to your type of fat. Flabby fat, of course, disappears more quickly than firm flesh.

ALLEGED ABDUCTOR RETURNED HERE; TWO OTHERS WANTED

Brought to Xenia Saturday in the custody of Constable E. J. Wilkins from Toledo, O., accused of being implicated in the kidnapping of a seventeen-year-old girl from the O. S. and S. O. Home, November 20, 1925. Bert Lewis, Lima, O., was bound over to the grand jury Saturday night by R. O. Copsey, justice of the peace on charge of abduction.

He waived examination, pleaded not guilty and was released on $500 bond. The bond was signed by his son-in-law and daughter, L. W. and Cleo Jenkins, Lima, who accompanied him to Xenia, and Attorney F. L. Johnson, retained as his counsel. Lewis is married and also appeared in court with her husband.

Warrants have also been issued for the arrest of Virginia Brady and Gus Clements, both of Lima, who are alleged to have engineered the plot by which the girl-inmate of the Home was spirited away from the institution and taken to Lima. They will also be charged with abduction.

Clements, who is a brother of Lewis' wife, is now confined in the Lucas County workhouse at Toledo and Virginia Brady at the state reformatory for women at Marysville, O.

The charges were filed by one T. E. Andrews, superintendent of the Home. Name of the girl abduction victim is being withheld. She has since reached the age of eighteen.

When the absence of the girl became known Superintendent Andrews charged the whereabouts of the girl's alleged abductors and had them arrested. Charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor, Clements and Virginia

Brady were given fines of $50 and costs and sentences of sixty days respectively, at Toledo and Marysville. Lewis was fined $25 and costs and given a thirty-day sentence at the Toledo workhouse.

It is his contention that he had little to do with the case other than having driven the car in which the girl was taken to Lima. His version of the story is that the girl was taken to Lima but finally urged to return to the Home. She refused, he said, and is now living at the home of her mother in Lima. The abduction plot was hatched up while the girl was spending her vacation last summer at Lima. She became acquainted with Lewis there.

Lewis was arrested Saturday at the expiration of his sentence at Toledo. The sentences of the other two implicated in the case do not expire until February 26. Sheriff Ohmer Tate holds affidavits for their arrest at that time, it is announced.

ANTIOCH DEFEATS ASHLAND COLLEGE AT YELLOW SPRINGS

Antioch College's strong B division basketball team won its second game at Yellow Springs Saturday night, defeating Ashland College 49 to 35 in a rapid-fire scoring contest.

Neither team exhibited a particularly strong defensive play. Antioch led all the way and at the half-way point, was ahead 25 to 13. It was the second straight victory for the rejuvenated B division quintet. Coach Kennedy's performers furnished an upset recently by out-pointing the strong Cedarville College team in a return game.

Final game for the B division team will be played Tuesday night against the University of Dayton Flyers on the Dayton floor. Dayton's basketball history this season is a story of "From Rags to Riches." After a poor start the team has developed into one of the strongest non-conference outfits in the state and an exceptionally hard game is anticipated.

After the "Flu" is over —you need a Tonic

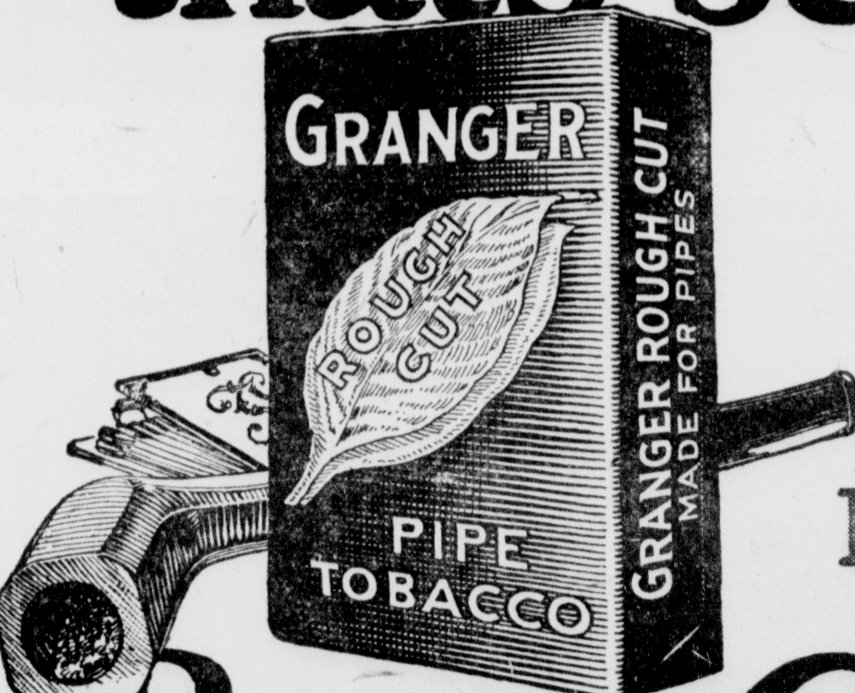

Help Is Needed to Restore Your Wasted Strength and Energy.

"Flu" leaves the body weakened and rundown. In such case, a tonic is clearly indicated. Restore the appetite and rid yourself of that let-down feeling. "Flu" is a very enervating disease. It leaves its victims so weak and debilitated that there is as much danger from the after-effects as from the disease itself. In other words, after an attack of the "flu," you need a selective tonic to rebuild the system so that you may have your old-time strength and energy restored.

S.S.S. is unequalled for restoring strength and vitality. You owe it to yourself and family to give S.S.S. a trial. It helps Nature build up red blood corpuscles. It improves the processes by which the body is nourished. It is time-tried and reliable. S.S.S. is made from the roots of fresh herbs and plants, and is prepared in a scientific way in a modern laboratory.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

GRANGER ROUGH CUT PIPE TOBACCO

ALL SMOKERS will agree that it's what's inside that counts—yet for years men have paid extra for containers instead of for their contents.

Granger Rough Cut now offers a common-sense innovation. Quality leaf, an exclusive and secret mellowing method, a special cool-burning cut—but no frills. And as a result, a pipe tobacco as exceptional for its good taste as for its moderate price.

No costly tins—but tobacco made for pipes and cut for pipes; in a word, quality pipe tobacco, through and through.

What our chemists call, "an almost perfect seal for tobacco condition"—a heavy soft-foil package with an extra outside wrapper of glassine....

ALL THE QUALITY POSSIBLE IN THE TOBACCO—

"THE VOLGA BOATMAN"

A story of Russia in the maelstrom of revolt—the bitter recollection of centuries of oppression and persecution ranking in the twisted brains of downtrodden peasants, suddenly released by fate to war against their oppressors—here is real drama, poignant, stirring, gripping, alluring, suspenseful—all combining to make this the greatest picture spectacle of the decade.

TRAINER LEAVES TO CONDITION "BABE"

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Before leaving for Los Angeles today, Arthur McGovern, local conditioner who will take charge of Babe Ruth's pre-season training, declared that he would confine most of his activities to the conditioning of the Babe's legs. He predicted that Ruth would be in better shape for the 1927 season than he was at the start of the last campaign in which the big hitter had his greatest year.

"The Babe was in a terrible condition when I got him last year and I was forced to work on his abdomen for the most part," McGovern said. "This time, he will get plenty of running and leg exercises. He has reached the age where the legs are all-important."

McGovern expects to start work with Ruth in Los Angeles on February 4.

MAJOR LEAGUE SKED MAKERS IN MEETING

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Its action delayed by the illness of Dan Johnson, the joint schedule committee of the two major leagues will meet today to draft a schedule for the 1927 season. William H. Hargrave, Johnson's secretary, will act for the American League president at the meeting, with Garry Grabiner, Chicago; Bob Quinn, Boston; John A. Heydler, National League president; and Barney Dreyfuss, Pittsburgh, completing the committee.

The season, it was expected, will open on April 12 and close October 2 with the world series starting October 6 or 7.

ENGINEER SCALDED TO DEATH IN WRECK

DENNISON, O., Jan. 31.—The body of Charles P. Lowry, 46, Pennsylvania railroad engineer, who was fatally scalded in a wreck near here, will be sent today to his home in Carnegie, Pa. Lowry's engine turned over Saturday when it was struck by a derailed freight car.

J. C. Fowler, 26, of Uhrichsville, traveling engineer and J. H. McMillen, fireman, of Carnegie, Pa., who also were scalded in the accident, are reported recovering.

ALPHA WINS

Alpha Independents continued their winning ways by downing the Belmont Merchants 21 to 11 in a well-played game at the K. of P. Hall at Alpha Thursday night. The game was hard fought at all stages and not as one-sided as the score would seem to indicate.

Next Thursday night the Alpha Independents will meet the strong Ohio and Indiana Five at the K. of P. Hall at Alpha, the game beginning at 7:45 o'clock.

WHAT to WEAR and How to WEAR IT

By LUCY CLAIRE
Favorite Fashion Adviser of the Smart Set

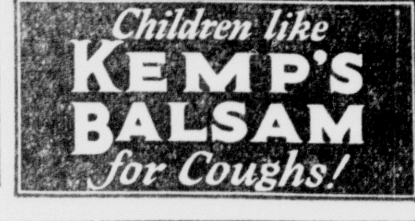

PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 31.—This week I am writing to you directly from Palm Beach so I can give you exact information on the mode as I find it portrayed by the smart world sojourning here.

First, I want you to visualize a background of sparkling sand which meets the foaming blue surf, wide white avenues tormented with the swaying green of palm and coconut trees and hot gold sunshine that is suffused over the entire picture. It is in this very theatrical and exaggerated setting that the world of smart women move about costumed like a cast of players for the setting in which they appear.

During the day there is a successive round of sports to be followed and I consider the costumes for these occasions the most important.

The suit at top, of flat light-weight worsted, very much like flannel, is an oyster white tint. By that I mean there is a slight cast of gray noticeable—just enough to break the trying whiteness. The silhouette tapers from shoulder to hem-line—an effect achieved by the tight wrap-around skirt which balances the loose fitting shoulder and sleeves. The sharply contrasting combination, you will notice, has been used with discretion for without it you might readily appear to be wearing a patch work quilt. Cuffs, vestee, roll collar and narrow belt are of black and the dark hat, slippers and bag make the accessories an integral part of the costume.

I recommend this type for the person of medium stature and slender proportions.

In the wardrobe—for they must look appropriate not only in the paddock or about the club grounds, but they must have a touch of formality that will carry them safely through the tea hour.

I observe that the all white costume is favored by those women who can wear it successfully. Unfortunately, this number is limited for pure white takes on life and chic when it is set off by a clear skin and vivid coloring.

However, white combined with black makes an effective combination and, regardless of the proportions, the white assumes predominance.

I want you to observe carefully the models shown today. Notice the two-piece effect, for that is a requisite of the present mode. I have found that even the rare one-piece dress tries to appear two-piece in effect by a clever manipulation of lines.

The suit at top, of flat light-weight worsted, very much like flannel, is an oyster white tint. By that I mean there is a slight cast of gray noticeable—just enough to break the trying whiteness. The silhouette tapers from shoulder to hem-line—an effect achieved by the tight wrap-around skirt which balances the loose fitting shoulder and sleeves. The sharply contrasting combination, you will notice, has been used with discretion for without it you might readily appear to be wearing a patch work quilt. Cuffs, vestee, roll collar and narrow belt are of black and the dark hat, slippers and bag make the accessories an integral part of the costume.

I recommend this type for the person of medium stature and slender proportions.

The ensemble below is distinctly a creation for the tall woman because it divides the figure and breaks the continuous height. Notice the fine accordion pleats in the skirt and the short white jacket of straight lines which falls just below the hips—one of the newest trends this season, for it adds a touch of formality to the sport costume, guiding it safely through the tea hour.

At this hour, I notice many of the smartest women alter the entire effect of their costumes by a change of slippers and hat. A pair of white or pastel tinted slippers of cool kidskin and a small hat of the type I have shown here, will do wonders to add just the necessary touch of formality.

Tomorrow, I am going to show three of the smartest costumes I have seen here, for morning, afternoon and evening wear.

RESISTS OFFICER

Motorcycle Policeman Peter Shagin met with resistance when he attempted to arrest Floyd Shank, 21, Dayton, on a charge of speeding at the rate of forty-two miles an hour on Main St.

As a result Shank is being held at Police Headquarters nursing a sore nose and awaiting a hearing before Mayor John W. Prugh on a charge of resisting an officer.

He pleaded guilty to speeding but not guilty to resisting an officer Monday morning. The traffic officer alleges Shank struck at him when he tried to arrest him. Shagin's fist connected with his nose and Shank became submissive.

Homer Mercer, Xenia, passenger in Shank's car, was arrested also and fined $5 and costs by Mayor Prugh when he pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct.

MIRRORS OF PARIS

By BASIL WOON

Author of "The Paris That's Not in the Guide-Books" and Correspondent for The Daily Gazette.

Exclusive Dispatch, Copyright, 1927 PARIS, Jan. 21.—Let's talk of persons. Yola Henriquet, for instance. Only she is no longer Yola Henriquet. She is Mrs. Henri Letellier. A story in a thousand.

Yola is the sweet young thing who set the world style of slenderness. She, herself, always looks as if poured into her gown and you search for the secret hooking device you are sure must be there to allow her to get out of 'em again.

Yola is twenty-three, round-mouthed, enormous-nosed, enormous-eyed, French cartoonists have pictured her as two eyes atop a matchstick and quite adorable. I adore her. Everyone does, including presumably, Henri Letellier.

How They Met. I was with Henri when he met Yola. He and Erskine Gwynne were promulgating the boardwalk at Deauville when suddenly the owner of the place stopped and, stiffening exactly like a well-trained setter, said: "Erskine, who is that girl?"

"Yola Henriquet," said Gwynne, glibly. "Her sister is fiancée of Benard, the banker, who lives three doors from you on the Rue Spontin. She was raised by a millionaire. She's seventeen and a quarter years old. She—"

"Go get her," said Henri, laconically. Erskine went. He was, at that time, Henri's private secretary.

That was five or six years ago. Two years later pretty Yola and Henri Letellier were engaged. It was not precisely the only time Henri had been married twice—once to Marthe, still one of the loveliest women in France, and later to pretty, tragic Peggy Gillespie, whom he married on her deathbed after having been her fiancé for nine years.

Has Largest Wardrobe in France. And now Henri and Yola are married. It is her triumph and Henri's good sense. No. 3 Rue Spontin will have a mistress again. What parties there'll be!

Not flatter parties have lacked during the affianced state. Not very—all Paris and half of New York have flocked to Henri's Saturday nights. The supper table in the Decorated for Bravery. And now for another Parisian character. This time, a restaurant man—Jules Ansdal. A remarkable and lovable man.

Jules went to America from France many years ago. Cent broke, tried to sell French glassware to discover the same thing duplicated at a quarter the price on the American market, and finally, being hungry, became waiter at Louis Martin's downtown place. A year later he was manager.

Then he opened the Sans Souci. It was the first Manhattan cabaret. W. R. Hearst, the only man admitted not in evening dress—W. R. never wore evening garb in those days.

The war, and Jules dashes into a hell of machine-gun nests and shrapnel and what-not and rescues somebody and is decorated on the field by his general with the Legion of Honor. More bravery, other decorations. Never wears them.

Looks Like a Duke. Jules is a hustler. He started

FOUR ARRESTED IN BEACH ORGY CASE

PAINESVILLE, O., Jan. 31.—The "beach orgy" scandal case has taken on added importance with the arrest of four additional men here. One of these, a confederator, has been charged with selling "doped" candy to young boys. The others are held responsible for the delinquency of minors. Eight men were indicted a week ago for alleged participation in affairs which were said to have involved several extremely young girls.

NUDE DANCES IN SNOW PRESERVE

"THAT SCHOOLGIRL COMPLEXION"

Mary Hay Breaks Ankle. Nemesis has caught up with darling, diminutive, black-eyed Mary Hay. The Nemesis that haunts every woman dancer. For the third time her ankle has broken and she may never dance again.

Mary came here to be divorced from Dick Barthelmess, but succumbed to the temptation of a big offer and went dancing on the Riviera with Billy Reardon. She got her divorce and she broke her ankle again—it was hardly mended from the accident in "Sunny," when she was dancing with Clifton Webb.

A Travelling Salon. Smart Paris had a new thrill during the first fortnight of January when the "Exposition Multinationale" was opened at the Bernheim Jeune galleries.

This exposition, which owes its inception and organization to Mrs. E. H. Harriman, is a traveling exhibition of paintings by the foremost rank of modern American French, English, German, Swiss and Mexican artists. It is the first exhibition of its kind and is making a tour of the world.

The exhibition is especially important because of the fact that contemporary German art is shown abroad for practically the first time, revealing German painters—according to one French critic—as "having arrived at the point to which other painters are striving."

Perhaps the most remarkable canvas is one by the Swiss artist Auguste Giacometti, called "L'Avenir" (The Future). This is nothing but a skillful blending of every known color, the deeper shades of red predominating, seen through what is presumably the grilled door of Destiny.

"Too Tired" to Enjoy Yourself?

LET THIS STIMULATIVE TONIC BUILD UP YOUR ENERGY

Help your digestive apparatus do its full duty. Give your blood the enrichment that brings vigor. Smooth out the "kinks" in your nerves. Get yourself normal, and you won't always be complaining of a "tired feeling."

Your body needs the right kind of digestive stimulation to keep it functioning with 100 per cent efficiency. That "all in" feeling is unnecessary.

A remarkable stimulant- tonic has been devised for just such conditions as these. It is delightfully palatable and is prepared by an old Virginia concern in business for nearly a century. Druggists and physicians have come to know this stimulant as "Old Monticello Tonic." Get a bottle today from your druggist, take a small wineglass full before the next meal—see how much better you feel—the glow of stimulated functions throughout the body. A few days' treatment will bring a quick change in run-down conditions and overcome lack of energy.

FUN FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

Just AMONG US GIRLS

"SHOPPING FOR KEEPS"

A woman goes shopping to put off washing the dishes. She may not be much of a housekeeper, but she has a lot of things to her credit on the charge account.

When a woman is jilted she buys just as many clothes as though she were going on a honeymoon. Either way it's a fresh start.

When a woman goes shopping it's a counter-attack. She can't talk back to her husband so she takes it out on the floor-walker, too, only he carries a baby!

There are two types of better shop, the one where they ask you how much you want to spend and ways right, the salesgirl gets left. On the other hand there are a lot of salesgirls who think that they ought to be on the stage. Well, every act ought to be their last!

The salesgirl who tries to tell a customer what she wants often makes a sale and an enemy at the same time. It's easier to get the world to beat a path to your door than it is to keep it from beating it away again.

Some men go shopping with their wives and others work in the afternoons. By the time a man has watched his wife in every dress in the store nothing is too good for the other where they want to know how much you have with you! In the downtown restaurants, "cover" charge makes you think of moving to warmer climes!

One sort of woman treats every salesgirl as though she sat up nights putting runs in the stockings. When she goes through the revolving door it doesn't stop going around for the rest of the day.

She wants her money's worth even if the store has to pay for it. There is the customer who wants a simple little model of velvet and chinchilla for next to nothing. Being next to nothing and next to a millionaire is often the same thing. Sometimes, if the customer is alher! Many a man who goes in for rabbit finds that he is "going in" for sable.

Some salesladies tell you that everything looks darling on you, and the "dearer" it is the more darling it looks! A perfect "36" looks like a perfect fright when combined with a larger figure!

Every woman knows the saleslady in the gown who looks like a female impersonator, and has strength enough to force anything on you. She can alter a gown, just by looking at it!

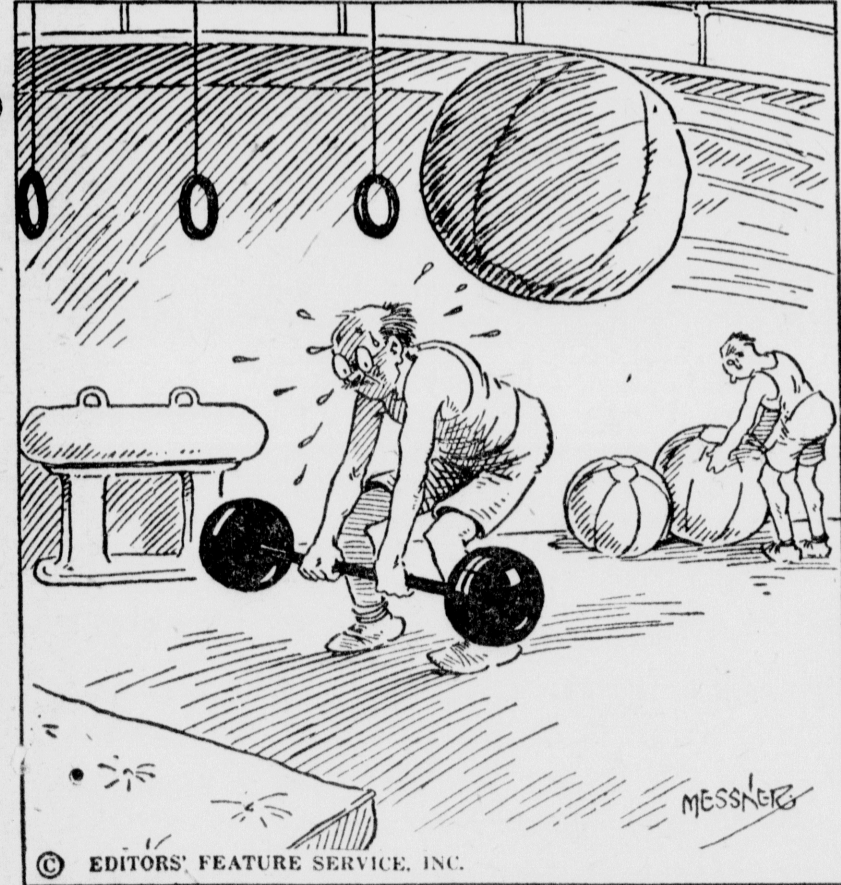

Many a window-shopper has gone mad because the shades were pulled down. Because some women don't want to buy, but they certainly are good-looking!

COMMITTEE VISITS FAIRGROUNDS FOR GRANDSTAND IDEAS

Special committee appointed by the Greene County Fair Board last week expects to visit county fairgrounds at Dayton and Greenville this week in line with plans to investigate what type of grandstand would be most suitable for Greene County.

A grandstand to seat about 1,500 people will be erected at the local fairgrounds this year at a cost of between $12,000 and $15,000, the fair board has decided. The board is limited to this expenditure.

To defray the cost County Commissioners have consented to increase the board's annual appropriation from $2,000 to $5,000 for two years, 1927 and 1928. This will provide $6,000 more money for two years and future boards of County Commissioners, it is hoped, will also approve this increase until the grandstand is paid for. The old grandstand will be disposed of at public auction Saturday, February 5. The sale will be held on the premises in charge of R. R. Grieve, auctioneer. The condition is made that the purchaser raze the structure and remove it. It is estimated the grandstand contains 20,000 feet of pine lumber.

WATCHMAN SLAIN

FINDLAY, O., Jan. 31.—Clues still were lacking here today in the murder of Peter Grant, 54, night watchman of a department store who was slain early yesterday by bandits who robbed the institution of $8,000. The robbers bound and gagged Grant and then blew open the safe. When the guard continued to resist, he was shot and his skull crushed with the butt of a pistol.
